

The Department of State Development, Trade and Innovation and the Women in Business Workshop Series 2006 present

How to Master Networking with Robyn Henderson

Robyn Henderson, global networking specialist, presents this highly-informative, confidence-building workshop for women in business.

Robyn has personally authored and contributed to 15 books that focus on business networking, business building, self-esteem building, and self promotion.

She has spoken in 11 countries, presents over 130 times each year and has never advertised.

All of her business comes from networking, referrals and her website
www.networkingtowin.com.au

How to Master Networking will introduce simple, highly-successful strategies to help you maximise opportunities to advance your business at social and business events. By attending this workshop, you will gain valuable knowledge on how to hone your networking skills, build your confidence, as well as pursue and establish rewarding business relationships.

This workshop will cover:

- What networking is as well as how and why it works
- How to turn business cards into business
- How to take the torture out of attending networking events
- How to talk to anyone about anything, anytime, anywhere
- The dos and don'ts of attending networking events
- How to ensure your return on investment at every networking event
- How to identify and network with decision makers

plus many more highly-successful techniques to help develop your 2006 networking action plan.
